“ Always thought how odd yet easy to keep track of pets names when all named Poncho. How the grandfather clock in halway would scare me every hour on the hour with the haunting gong sound lol.

“ Memories of Dad --- sledge hammer to knock out walls in the house. It never was the same on each visit there. His garden he loved it. He made a concrete roller and got it to be used on his riding mower to level out his yard --- he felt like a genius then. Tomatoes -- the man could grow them! One of a kind he was; God knew any more than one of Dad would be to much for the plant. Thoughts and prayers to the family and friends. Janet Thompson
