“ I didn't really know her personally but met her via phone prior to the passing of her father a few years ago. Her father and my dad worked together in 1960's. We had planned on getting together and never did. Over the past couple years we lost contact. For the past 6 months I have been trying to locate her. Not sure what led me to the search again but here I am today. May God be with and bless the family during this trying time. It seems like the lord was watching over tonight and guiding me here. It is with great sorrow I wasn't able to meet her in person to tell stories of our dads. I too feel this loss and it's amazing how things work out. I could have searched for years and never known where she is
