“ Ray, I just noticed your entry and I thank you very much for it. That was very sweet of you. And AD for you and your 5 children I wish you a relationship just like me and Daddys. Gary was everything to me and losing him is still the hardest thing I have ever dealt with. He was an amazing man and an ever better father to my brother and I. I really appreciate the things you said in your entry. They made me feel very good and content. It has been almost 3 years without him and at times I wonder how in the world I have made it this far without him and then I get this feeling and realize that my dad and the Lord as well have been with me the whole time. God bless you and your family and loved ones. Cherish every moment you have with your children and let them know how much you love them and know that they love you more than anything in this world. You are and always will be their hero. You never know when will be the last time you see or speak to them. Cherish even the smallest things. :) thank you again and I hope all is well.

“ Note: I dont know who this "private entry" will go to but please forward this to Tiffany.

Tiffany,

I have not met you before but wanted you to know that I was at the island this weekend and saw the memorial to your father. I was curious so I looked it up online and found this page. I wanted you to know that the memorial is there and is in good shape. As a father of 5 children, i was touched by your entry to your father. It was obvious that you and he had a very special relationship. In today's world of broken and dysfunctional relationships there are not many people that have experienced the type of closeness that you have with your father. Reading your guestbook made me think about how short and precious life really is. The bible says that it is a vapor that appears for a little while than vanishes away. I guess that is why we need to treat each day as a gift and make the most of each one we are given. I have not experienced what it is like to loose my father so I am not even "qualified" to write this email but read about a book called "Heaven is Real" by Todd Burpo that has helped many people who have lost loved ones. Sorry this is so long but i feel i need to mention one last thing. In the note to your dad you asked the question, who can you talk to and who will be there for you? No one will be able to replace your father but the bible does say that when we commit our lives to God he gives us His spirit that will live inside us and it cries out "Abba Father" which means Daddy. So i encourage you to daily pour out your heart to God and you will find strength and comfort from your heavenly Father who loves you more than you can imagine and is SO proud of you. He promises to "be a father to the fatherless". I pray that your life will be like the foot prints in the sand story where the guy looks back on his life and sees that God has carried him through the most difficult times of his life. God Bless You!

“ I am so glad to know that the memorial picture put up of my daddy was still there. We did that this summer because that was his favorite Island. He and I camped there a lot. ALmost all summer every summer. THank you for your sympathy and I am very glad that you liked our memorial. I hope you enjoyed that island as much as he and I did.

“Daddy, I miss you more than you could ever dream up. Words will never be able to express how much I miss you. You were so very vital to me and I never told you that. I love you daddy and I wish I would have told you that the last few moments that we had together. We spent so much time together dad, I spent every minute of my free time with you... and now... I'm spending it alone, crying over how much I miss you and want you to come back to me. One thing that I know is that you loved me so very very much. SOmetimes I can feel you with me. I'm not just saying that either. I will NEVER forget all the times that we had, whether they be good, or bad. Summer without you... just the thought of that hurts, and I am scared to death to face that reality next year. YOU are my dad. I was closest with you. I'm not really close to anyone anymore. My heart aches at the silence of you not being around, at the reality of never seeing your face again, at the reality of never being able to hug you anymore, at the fun times that we will no longer have. You were a great man daddy. There was never a time that I could not count on you. I love you more than you or anyone could ever know. Now that you're gone I don't have a daddy anymore... I can't introduce you to people with a huge smile on my face and say "This, is my daddy." I will always and forever be your daddy's little girl. YOu taught me to be strong, and that's what I am trying so hard to do... without you... I just have no clue what to do. You were supposed to be there when I graduate high school, when I graduate college, when I get married, when I have kids... you were supposed to be there for everything. What happens when I get my heart broken? YOu won't be there for a shoulder for me to cry on, and you won;t be there to go beat them up :) You were so very important to me and you will FOREVER be in my heart. I love you daddy -your daughter Tiffany Beard

“ Cristal, I know you don't remember me, my husband and I used to be best of friends with your parents when you were a baby, and darling baby you were, we have a daughter 2 years younger than you and your parents were there for us every minute of my pregnancy and birth which was wonderful as we had very little family support, we lost contact with them when they moved from Smith Mtn Lake back to Halifax in the 80's and your dad and my husband happened upon each other years later on a job back at the lake, at that time they again rekindled their friendship and have spent some time together in recent years. We are so sorry for your loss and we shocked of the news, your father loved you with all of his heart always, he adored you when you were a beautiful blonde headed toddler, and spoke proudly and often of you in later years, he was such a jolly person and so fun to be around he always had a smile and a laugh, I am so glad to find you on facebook, congrats on your children, and again we are deeply sorry for the loss of your father.

“ I just want to thank everyone for the phone calls, visits, the covered dishes and utensils, the encouraging words of comfort but most and foremost the prayers. Gary made a profession of faith at the age of 14. He truly Loved God. I know through the years my brother backslide but he was a great brother; my only brother. We all have had disagreements with ours siblings; OK fights, but that's a part of growing up and you get over it. From the mud pies to the mud fights I would not trade one minute. Thank you God! I am truly worried about my mom. 35 years ago I lost my oldest brother Danny and my uncle Mack Beard in a wreck. Dec. 10 2009 I lost my father. Gary had not been feeling well for some time but refused medical attention. He was a little stubborn. Just a little. He loved life, boating, his dogs and being on, what I called his Island and yes his close friends and family. God makes no mistakes. We may not understand but if you believe in God with ALL thine heart; you will one day. Gary and I had watch two people very close to our heart slowly lose their battle with cancer and believe me when I tell you there are worse things in life than dying. If you have been born again you DO NOT die you just go to sleep. Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. (Prov. 3:5-6) Gary did not suffer and he is in no pain and I know I will be with him again. Will you?
