“ Heather was my student at Midland. She was a wonderful girl and a great horsewoman. I am so sorry for your pain and loss. You are in my prayers and the prayers at our church. I paraphrased the Lords Prayer for us horsepeople and I hope it gives some comfort to you.

The Lord is my trail boss, I am fully supplied.

He makes camp in green pastures,

He leads me beside sweet water holes,

He restores my soul.

Even though the trail leads through the canyon of the shadow of death,

I am not afraid, because you are with me.

Your Winchester and lariat comfort me.

You put me first in line at the chuckwagon, you heap my plate with delicious food, and you save me the best seat beside the campfire.

As I follow your trail my horse will not bolt or spook and when at last I come to trail's end, I will live happily in the beautiful ranchhouse of the Lord forever.
