“ Hey Dad. I'm having kind of a bad day today and I decided to type my name in the Google search bar and what do you know, the first link was you. I'm glad i found this though. I had no idea it existed. I just wanted to let you know not one day has gone by that I have not thought of you. Josh and I really miss you, even if we do not miss each other nearly as much. But, Josh and I still love each other and we are both still kicking so you did something right haha. I just want you to know that I know that you are up there, watching over the both of us. I am sorry for any wrongs I may have done you and only ask for your forgiveness and guidance to do the right thing. Thank you Dad. You, in my eyes, were the greatest and most loving man that I have and will ever encounter in my life. Again, thank you dad. I Love You. Rest in peace.
