“ Our lives build through the love we give and take. We do, we share, we laugh and cry as individuals and as a family. His family and friends grieve over their loss and will cry when missing him as time moves us from day to day and at then at those unsuspecting moments as we over and over again think about seeing him or sharing something with him. Those moments are so hard and they don't end but more importantly the Love never ends and that is what he has taken with him. Our love, our words our sharing of times and that is what he has left with his family and friends. Memories and all the Love shared is what will help to sustain those closest to him as you continue on your paths but there is also the knowledge we will all meet up again.

May God's Peace be with all of you as the days pass. May there be healing in the memories and continued peace in the knowledge that love was shared well and continues on.

Love to my family,

“ To all the family, so very sorry to hear about Jim, he was a very nice person.

I hope you will let God carry you through these hard times that will effect all of your lives, for only he can give you the inner peace it will take to help you except this loss. Some were way down the future road you will find peace. May God be with each and everyone of you. Donna & Lance “ Ruby, I just learned of Jim's death. I know that the two of you have been married for a long time, and I can see that God has blessed you with children and many grandchildren. I know they will be your rock in the days ahead. I haven't seen you in many years, but we are those "Union Hill girls" and you will always be special. My prayer is that God will give you the strength needed to carry on and I know that His love will overshadow your grief. Just lean on the Lord and he will cradle you like a baby.
