“ I stand reminded of all the times you have helped me Joe and my family. God knows you were often the port in the storm everyone went to. You have been there time and time again as God's assistant even though you may have not known it. We will never forget you and your kindness to us. We ask God to bless your family with his presence from on high and give them peace and comfort through his holy spirit.

“ i am writing this for my mom, as she has altizmers, i know she would like to tell the family she is so sorry for their loss. she loved her brother so very much. i am so glad we all got to see each other last july, and had a good visit. we were just looking at a calendar the night before he passed, and she turned to march, and was talking when birthdays were, and she knew when joe's was, then the next morning we got the call. every once in awhile, she will tell some stories, about back when they were younger. she still thinks all of her family is still alive, and even sometimes my dad, and her mom and poppy. so, uncle joe, when you enter those pearly gates, bless some blessings on my mom, for she thinks you are still with us. love always, from your sister, ermilee...

“ Joe will be greatly missed. He was such a wonderful man, always willing to help anyone out. My family always teased him about driving down our road and throwing nails out so that we would have to come to him and get a flat fixed.

“ I remember Joe, he was a great guy and seemed like a really good father. I was a friend to his son David. I went with him and David at least twice to haul cars to the crusher and I probably bought a tire or two from his collection. I always envied David and his family when they went to Michigan (I think) to pick apples - that sounded so fun and different. Most of all I like their country life. David showed me how to climb up saplings and ride them back to the ground as they slowly bent down. David and Janice were good kids because they had good parents. Hang in there my brother and sis. I miss you guys.
