“ *Tressie,
I am so sorry! Sometimes things just don't seem right. I know the ache your heart is feeling right now, and to tell you the truth, there is nothing that is going to help but time. Losing a parent leaves a void that is literally earth shaking. You will never heal, but what you will be able to do is cope. I remember when my daddy died, John Hamilton told me that you think about it everyday - and he was right. Let the ones around you love you, scream when you need to, hit something, but most of all cry. This won't be the last time, but they do get less frequent. Your momma touched my life, and I always loved how she called everyone of her basketball girls "baby." I love you!*

“ Tressie, your Momma was a very beautiful and amazing woman. She will always have a special place in my heart. If there is any truth to Angels being here with us on earth I know without a doubt that she was one of them. She taught me so much that I look back on now at the time it didn't mean anything to me, but as I got older things would pop up and I would hear her voice saying them and things were crystal clear. She may not be here on earth with us but she will forever be in the hearts of many. I pray that God will wrap you and your family in His arms and replace your tears with smiles when you remember your Momma.

“ The sadness is not that Mrs. Brewer was released from her pain --- but because of the void left by her loss.

To Cameisha --- yes, we will rejoice with you in your mother's glory. But we will also ache with you while you take these next few steps in this world.

Love from Coach Stamps and Mrs. LaNelle

Isaiah 64:8

*8 Yet, O LORD, you are our Father.
We are the clay, you are the potter;
we are all the work of your hand.*
