“ We moved to his neighborhood when I was about 7 years old. Lived a couple of houses down from him and his sister Becky. He was always friendly and outgoing even then.

They were our playbuddies for the year and half or so that we lived there. Then throughout school he always had a friendly "hi". I have enjoyed reading his posts for the past couple of years I have had him on facebook. I didn't always agree with him, but you didn't have to. He sure was not afraid to stand up for what he believed in, and let people know it. He was a good person, and will be missed.
