“ When I began teaching school at Bradford Elementary in the fall of 1969, I remember loving Mr. Amann and his sweet wife. She was so kind to me. I especially appreciated kindness then as I was newly married and a brand new teacher in a school where I knew no one. I still remember their kindness to me and her sweet greeting everytime we would meet. May God grant you comfort and peace in her passing.

“ It's funny, we always called her Pat and Mr. Amann, , , Mr. Amann. Those years they lived here in Bradford were special in many different ways, the school, the church and the community. Pat was always a shining example of what a Godly woman should be. Everybody loved her. We all are aware of the pain and suffering she went through of late and are grateful she is no longer in pain; however, we will miss her immensely. Rest in peace sweet Pat. We hold up Mr. Amann, the boys and Susan. May they cherish all the precious memories.
