“ Roy also worked many years at BONHAM’s Garage with Allan and Patsy. He worked as a mechanic barefooted for most the years as well. I know that when his service may be, he had clarified that those of us that wanted to, could go barefoot but only promising not to cry or dress up. I doubt I can keep that but ima try.

This man here is a LEGEND! My Rosie (I was the one that got by with calling him this but only because he had no choice) uncle NO SHOES, uncle ROY, I don’t even want to believe you are gone.... I wish I woulda been there with you. I will always feel regret just because I promised you I would be by your side til the end. I guess gaining your wings and reuniting with MOM was worth you doing so on my birthday. I was so angry with GOD when I was told but I’m honored it was my day that you were relieved of this life. I can only imagine the reunion you and that woman had!! I don’t know how to feel or act. I miss you so freaking much (I did before because of this COVID mess). I hope you know how much I love you and I’m gonna miss you terribly. There were so many more talks I wanted to have with you but GOD needed you more. I LOVE YOU ROSIE!!!

He told me he liked me and boy did that make my day!! It will never be the same around here without him 💔Heaven gained a wonderful man! He's walking with Jesus now!

Me and Mr.Pratt had a bond. He had such a caring heart but was a very stubborn man. Im gonna miss that "Nooo" when I ask him if I could get his vitals, if he was ready for a shower, well anything and he would almost always follow it with a laugh. We shared many laughs. And many stories. Im gonna miss the picking at each other. He definitely holds a place in my heart and will forever be missed. Fly high Pratt the Cat your pain is gone and now you got toes I hang u up by when we meet again 😊

“ Roy was an independent thinker, he practiced free speech, and he lived as he thought best without harming anyone. He was a wonderful example of American individualism and this is a rare, precious quality. I miss him already.
