“ I didn't know Troy but I respect him because I read his original obituary and I think you need to call things as they are and that's what he did. I regret that you felt that you had to change his heartfelt feelings. Rest in peace Troy. As you said the other kids will regret their actions some day

I didn't know Troy either but he spoke from his heart and he had a story he wanted told,even if it was a sad one. He should be allowed his final thoughts. No parent should ever feel like he did . May he rest in peace.
