

Wanda Taylor

May 12, 1938 - October 3, 2010

Wanda L. (Berry) Taylor, 72, of Judsonia, died Sunday, October 3, 2010 at her home. She was born May 12, 1938 in Judsonia a daughter of the late James Chester and Monnie Cynthi Baker Gassaway. She was a homemaker and a Baptist.

She is survived by her daughter, Elizabeth (Berry) Gowan of Judsonia; sister, Carolyn Miller (Bill) of Little Rock, grandchildren, Matthew N. Gowan and Caleb Tomerlin; great-granddaughter, Gabriella Gowan. She was preceded in death by first husband, Dennie Ray Berry and her second husband, C.W. Taylor.

Services will be conducted at 3:00 p.m. Wednesday, October 6, 2010 at the Powell Funeral Chapel in Bald Knob. Interment will follow in the White County Memorial Gardens by Powell Funeral Home, Bald Knob-Judsonia. www.powellfuneralhome.net

Tribute Wall

“ I remember my grandma as memaw if u ever called her grandma she would be like dont call me that. that makes me feel old. but the most thing i remember doing is going out and spending time with family she really loved to fish. another thing i remember her by is her getting up early in the morning and turning on that fogers coffee it always smelt so good:) but i loved her till the day she died on october 3, 2010

caleb tomerlin (her grandson) - March 29, 2013 at 02:12 PM

“ I could not have loved Wanda more if she were my own mother. She loved me like a daughter and was a wonderful mother-in-law. She was one of the most loving, caring and sincere people I have had the pleasure of knowing. Always a kind word even in the midst of any trial she was going through. I will miss her greatly but cherish the many memories I have of her.

October 06, 2010 at 12:00 AM

“ When someone asks, "What did you do today?", I always think about how Wanda would answer that question: "Well, I got up. . ." Our Aunt Margie thought that was funny, and she would say that for Wanda, that was the most difficult thing she did all day! May the Lord bless Wanda's family, because she's at rest forever.

October 04, 2010 at 12:00 AM